

30,000 IN. W. W. PROTEST PARADE AT LAWRENCE

Men, Women and Children. of All Nationalities Carry the Stars and Stripes.

CHURCH SERVICES HELD

Only 500 Attend Rival Picnic Run by Industrial Workers of the World.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 12.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 men, women and children tramped through the flag bedecked streets of Lawrence to-day to protest against the "No God" motto of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Probably 100,000 other persons, including many thousands from the neighboring towns and cities, witnessed the great spectacle. Only one emblem was in sight, the flag of the United States, and in addition to each marcher bearing at least one of these, the sightseers wore them in countless numbers; they were waving from staff and cord and used as decoration for buildings all along the route.

Enthusiasm was shown by every man, woman and child in the vast parade, while patriotic music was played by the bands and sung by the children and women.
These were answered by the cheers of the crowds that lined the streets and sidewalks and crowded every building along the line of march.

It was a dull, gray day and the streets were muddy, but this made no difference to the paraders nor to the crowds everywhere.

Many of the mill workers took part in the celebration, and only about 500 of the I. W. W. attended the "Competition Picnic," arranged by that organization and held at Pleasant Valley, although 30,000 were expected.

The I. W. W. got out a big circular early in the day, headed "God and Country," and explaining why this phrase is used to attack the I. W. W. It says:

The masters and upholders of the masters condemn the I. W. W. in the name of God and country. These questions have no bearing on the I. W. W. We have never made an issue of religion in our union, but there is a proverb, "God helps him who helps himself," and we have helped ourselves so effectively that we have obtained a 15 per cent. increase in wages, shorter hours and the abolition of the premium system.

Practically all classes in the community were represented in the parade, and in the thousands of singing school children there must have been representatives of at least twenty nationalities. There were operatives from the mills in line, men and women of French, German, Italian, Greek, Irish, English and Scotch blood, but there was nothing to give distinction to particular groups, and practically all the religious denominations were represented by organizations of their own.

Everything went off on schedule from the moment the first note of movement was sounded by the band at a o'clock in front of the Arlington Mills to the time, about two hours later, when a great American flag was hoisted on the Continent by two Grand Army veterans amid the cheers of thousands.

After the parade services were conducted in some of the churches and a great crowd attended a mass in St. Mary's on Hampshire street. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Father James O'Reilly, was one of the conspicuous figures in the parade at the head of various organizations from St. Mary's Parish.

FED 'LADDIE DEAR' WITH SPOON

So Boarding House Keeper Says, but Divorce Isn't Granted Yet.

Supreme Court Justice Giergerich has reserved decision in a suit for divorce brought by John B. Houston, a civil engineer, of 901 St. Nicholas avenue, against Mrs. Marie C. Houston, in which the chief testimony against Mrs. Houston is contained in a deposition by Mrs. Martha J. Mortimer, who conducts a summer boarding house in the Back Bay section of Boston.

Mrs. Mortimer testified that Mrs. Houston came to her boarding house last summer with one Frank Collins, "a tall, thin man with dark eyes and pleasant manners." Mrs. Mortimer said they acted like brother and sister until she saw Collins swinging Mrs. Houston in a hammock and playing with her thick braids of hair. Mrs. Mortimer then became interested.

The boarding house keeper said that when the couple came to dinner Mrs.
Houston called "Laddie Dear" to the cup on his food for him and fed him with a spoon. Mrs. Mortimer testified that Mrs. Houston said, "Chick, chick, chick," and Collins cooed and cooed to her.
Whether this is sufficient evidence for a divorce is the question the court is now deciding.

JAIL FACES WEALTHY WIDOW.

Mrs. Conlon Is Sought for Contempt in Action on Judgment.

Mrs. Eva K. Conlon, who was a massachusetts when she married John P. Conlon, a wealthy contractor, from whose estate she is receiving an income of $4,000 a year, was fined $250 yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Gerard for contempt of court because she failed to appear to testify in supplementary proceedings on a judgment for $3,627 obtained by Benjamin Steinman.

Steinman's attorneys haven't been able to find Mrs. Conlon to serve the order, but when they do she must either pay or go to Ludlow street jail.

The lawyers told the court that the last trace they had of her was when she left the residence of Mrs. Sheppard Knapp, at Riverside Drive and Eighty-first street, and they heard she was going to Canada.
Clarence E. Mundy, attorney for Mrs.
Conlon, opposed the order to punish her, but said he couldn't find her either.

agreement reached at midnight Stone & Webster of Boston have agreed to under-necticut Power Company, which was waged 000,000 water power, developing 35,000 horsepower, at Windsor Locks, a deep channel for navigation to Holyoke and the validation of Gov. J. M. V. who voted the bill providing for the issue of $5,000,000 bonds on the $25,000,000 capital of the Connecticut River Company.

The latter company is absorbed and the new company will have both Connecticut Power Company, which owns the liberal charter of another nominal company and which may and will use the
